FRANKFORT, JULY 29, 1899.

Small-Pox.

Under the efficient and vigilant action of the Board of Health, backed up by the earnest work of Mr. Jas. H. Graham, the epidemic of small-pox that has caused so much uneasiness for the past month, has been effectually stamped out.

There need be no further cause of alarm, and our country friends can now resume their business connection with the city.

Sad Event.

On Sunday morning Mr. A. Phyllian Saffell, youngest son of Mr. Jas. M. Saffell, committed suicide under peculiarly sad circumstances.

It appears that he had been in good spirits all day Saturday, returning home about 10 o'clock that night and retiring with his family as usual. About 3 o'clock Sunday morning Mrs. Saffell awoke and feeling cold and chilly. Mr. Saffell arose and placed a cover over her. He then walked to the window, and, taking up a revolver fired a shot.

His father called to know what he was shooting at, when his wife answered that she supposed he was shooting at a dog out in the yard.

In a few seconds another shot rang out, and his father ran into the room to find that his son had shot himself squarely through the heart and was lying on the floor dead.

It is supposed that the young man's mind was unbalanced and that he was not at himself when he committed the rash act.

It appears also that he must have placed his left hand over his heart, resting the weapon on his left fore finger, when he fired the fatal shot, as the left hand was powder burned and his night shirt scorched by the cartridge.

An inquest was held and the jury returned a verdict that death was caused from a pistol shot fired by Mr. Saffell while laboring under temporary insanity from the excessive use of cigarettes.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Geo. Darsie, on Monday morning at 11 o'clock, from the family residence, and the remains were laid to rest in our cemetery. He leaves a father, one brother, a wife (a daughter of Hon. E. H. Taylor, jr.), three small children and a large number of relatives to whom the sympathy of the whole community is extended.

A Little Bit Off.

In our notice of the outing to be enjoyed by the "Kingfisher Club," we were led into unintentional error.

It seems that the organization is a separate and distinct one from the "Kingfisher Club," and is known as the "Frankfort Fishing Club," being composed of the local members of the old club and a lot of new men.

The club will leave on Monday morning over the Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway, by way of Cincinnati and Chicago, and will go from that point to "Court Oreilles" Lake, in Northwest Wisconsin.

This lake is near the Indian Reservation, and it is said but one white man is seen in that section, and he is the Indian Agent.

The gang that are going is composed of the following gentlemen: Geo. L. Payne, Frank G. Stagg, Frank C. Cannon, James H. Stone, T. Noble Lindsey, John W. Milam, C. C. Furr and Sidney Bedford. The regular cook, Charles Buckner, will fill his usual place.

Messrs. S. R. Smith ("Old Sam") and Richard Morris, who are members of the organization, are detained at home, much to their regret.

We envy these old boys the good time they will have, and but for a stringency in the region of our pocket book, should have applied for initiation ourselves. But such is life—in a printing office.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
"Digests what you eat."

The champion shot of the world, Dr. W. F. Carver, will give an exhibition of skill in this line each day during the Lexington Horse Show, Fair and Carnival, August 8-12. Dr. Carver has well earned the title of champion of the world, and his fancy shooting has defied the efforts of all competitors.

A Collision.

As Mr. Howard Miller was riding along Second street on his wheel, Monday morning, some young man, who is unknown, deliberately drove his buggy against Mr. Miller, knocking him off the wheel and throwing him some ten feet against the street, bruising his right side, loosening his knee-cap, knocking the bark off of his leg and mashing his right thumb and splitting the nail.

Mr. Miller was picked up by Mr. A. J. Hyde and helped into his shop to recover from the shock.

The man in the buggy drove on and never stopped to see the damage he had done.

Refreshing Shower.

Shortly after 1 o'clock p. m., on Monday, we had a very heavy and refreshing shower of rain that lasted about half an hour and did lots of good.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions, and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run down invalid. Only 50 cents at J. W. Gayle's drug store.
